City Discussing Garbage Vendor Options at Meeting on July 5

Current contract expires at the end of September

The Wheaton City Council will be considering bid proposals the City received for Wheaton's next garbage, recycling and yard waste hauler at the July 5, 2016 City Council meeting.

The City received bids from five waste hauling companies with proposals for several types of programs, such as sticker-based programs and flat monthly fee programs. City staff reviewed the proposals and will be presenting recommendations for the City Council's consideration on July 5. The current waste hauler contract will expire at the end of September.

Using the bids the City received, City staff calculated the average projected costs for four typical Wheaton household types for the different proposed programs. You can view the Staff also analyzed how well the potential programs would meet the primary goals for Wheaton's next program, based on community feedback and trends in waste management. These goals include: 1) maintaining a program where residents pay for the amount of waste they produce ("pay-as-you-throw"), 2) a fully automated collection process (where trucks with mechanical arms collect garbage and recycling, which is safer and more efficient than manual

Fats, Oil & Grease Don't Belong Down the Drain

Think twice before you pour something down the drain. Just like fatty foods clog human arteries, fats, oils and grease build up inside our sewer lines. Warm fats, oils and grease washed down the drain will cool, harden and stick to the inside of sewer pipes. Over time, this can cause blockages and even sewer backups – which are unpleasant, messy and costly for property owners.

Some of the biggest contributors to sanitary sewer backups are things poured down your kitchen drain or garbage disposal.

Things you shouldn't pour down the drain or garbage disposal include: cooking oil, meat scraps, grease, butter and food scraps containing fats.

Instead, here are some options for disposing of these items:

- Cooking oil: Bring it to the City's monthly electronic recycling collections, which take place on the second Saturday of each month. Cooking oil can be turned into biofuel.
- Meat scraps, butter and other food scraps containing fats: Throw them in the garbage.

- Grease: Pour grease from cooking into an empty container. Allow it to cool before throwing it in the trash. Use a paper towel to wipe out remaining grease in the pan before washing.

Changes to Bus Boarding Procedures

To improve safety and on-time performance, Pace will begin a new policy for picking up customers. Its current practice allows riders to board a bus on most routes by flagging down the bus where it is safe to do so – regardless of whether that location has a posted bus stop sign. Pace is converting all bus routes to pick up riders at posted stops only.

This change will require Pace to begin relocating or installing new bus stop signs, when needed. The scheduled stops will include Pace Route 711. For more information, visit www.pacebus.com.
