MESSAGE FROM THE MAYOR

Ushering in the New Year

Mayor Suess

I wish each of our residents a happy, healthy, and prosperous New Year! In conjunction with the New Year, I wanted to share with you where the City is headed in 2024.

The City's expenditures continue to be in line with our strategic objectives of financial stability, public safety, maintaining city services, enhancing infrastructure and environmental sustainability. The City's 2024 budget provides for revenues of $120.3 million and expenditures of $129.7 million. The excess of expenditures over revenues will be funded through reserves and grants dedicated to specific projects. This compares to revenues of $129.7 million and expenditures of $123.8 million in 2023. It is currently projected that the City will have a budget surplus of $5.9 million in 2023.

The City continues to invest in its infrastructure, having several projects slated for completion in 2024. These include improving approximately 8 miles of Wheaton roads through the annual Road, Sewer, and Water Rehabilitation Program. The City will replace 1,000 sidewalk squares and construct 2.3 miles of new sidewalks to improve safety in our neighborhoods. We will continue to tackle flooding issues, including work this year on the Cadillac/Wakeman Flood Prone Project. The City will continue to fund programs to individual residents to address sewer backups, replacing sewer laterals and addressing backyard flooding. Investments will continue to be made in our sanitary and storm water sewers with the relining of sewers, the grouting and cleaning of sewers and the replacement of sewer structures. The City's program of lead service lines replacement will continue with the goal of replacing all lead service lines by 2028.

The City continues its dedication to public safety through the Police Department's public outreach events and the new 'Connect Wheaton' Program, which consists of an online security camera registry where residents and businesses can register the location of their security cameras to help expedite emergency response and crime investigations. Additionally, the Police Department will work alongside the Engineering Department in conducting School Safety Studies at Wheaton elementary schools to improve traffic flow and enhance student safety. The Fire Department will also conduct the Citizens Fire Academy Program and fire safety inspections of multi-family occupancies to ensure safety within these residential properties. Our budget also provides for the hiring of two additional firefighters in 2024.

This year, the City's environmental sustainability efforts will continue through initiatives to reduce our carbon footprint by increasing the use of hybrid vehicles, reducing the number of vehicles we operate, and focusing on reducing the size of vehicles. The City will continue replacing light fixtures with energy efficient LED fixtures.

The City maintained a stable budget throughout the year. The 2024 budget provides for no new taxes and maintains the property tax levy at its current level for the fifth straight year. The budget maintains current service levels and allocates $30.3 million for capital expenditures across the community. The City of Wheaton is one of only 22 communities in Illinois and 447 in the U.S. to receive Standard & Poor's Global Ratings 'AAA' credit rating, the top possible rating.

We are fortunate to call Wheaton home. Thank you for your continued support of our community. It is our residents, their involvement, their interest, and their pride in our City that makes Wheaton the place it is. I look forward again to seeing our residents out enjoying our City.

Extreme Cold: Prevent Pipes from Bursting

As the temperatures continue to fall, it is essential to ensure that your faucets and pipes are in good working condition. Follow these tips to help prevent frozen pipes:

Cover or Insulate Exposed Pipes

In addition to sealing any gaps between the walls and pipes that are going inside of your house, also make sure to insulate pipes in unheated areas, like crawl spaces and your garage. When left exposed to the cold, unheated lines are prone to freezing.

In-ground irrigation systems

To freeze proof an in-ground irrigation system, follow the manufacturer's procedures for draining and protecting it from winter damage.

Insulate and Cover Outdoor Faucets

The direct contact between your faucet and the winter weather can risk piping exposure to extremely low temperatures. Freezing temperatures can lead to broken faucets and damaged pipes, causing floods and other plumbing issues. If your house is equipped with an interior shut-off valve directly connected to your exterior's faucets and plumbing, it's also a good idea to turn it off. Afterward, you can then open the outdoor faucet valve to ensure there's no remaining water inside the line that can freeze and cause trouble during the colder months. You can also insulate and cover outdoor-facing faucets to protect them from freezing temperatures.

Drain and Store Your Garden Hoses

It is important that you properly drain any remaining water and stow away your garden hose if you want to prolong its lifespan. Water left inside your garden hose can freeze and significantly expand, causing the hose to break. Disconnect your hoses, drain the remaining water, and find a safe, dry place to keep them stored until spring, such as a garage.

January is 'Radon Action Month' in Illinois

The Illinois Emergency Management Agency (IEMA) is urging residents to take time in the coming weeks to test their home for radon as part of Radon Action Month. Radon is a naturally occurring radioactive gas that is the second-leading cause of lung cancer in the United States. Radon related health risks are preventable with a simple home detection test.

Radon comes from the natural breakdown of uranium and radium in the soil. This odorless, colorless, tasteless gas is found in the air that we breathe in buildings, homes, offices and if not properly mitigated can reach drastically high levels causing major health concerns.

City Council Meetings and Planning Sessions are held in the Council Chambers at Wheaton City Hall, 303 W. Wesley St. Visit www.wheaton.il.us for a complete list of meetings and events.
